SUSTAINABILITY, GOVERNANCE AND INVESTOR EXPECTATIONS IN ASIA

FROM DISCLOSURE TO STRATEGY

Programme Overview

Good governance and sustainability are increasingly central to how companies manage risk, build trust and create long-term value. Boards and management teams across Asia face rising expectations from investors, regulators and stakeholders, yet practical gaps often remain between disclosure and execution. This programme provides an investor-led, Asia-focused perspective on how governance and sustainability are assessed in practice, and how organisations can strengthen credibility, decision-making and long-term performance.

Key Focus Areas

- Investor expectations on governance and sustainability
- Credibility of targets and transition plans
- Common gaps between policy and execution
- Regional differences across key Asian markets
- Practical tools for boards and management

Trainer's Profile

Nana Li

Nana Li leads Impax's sustainability research, stewardship strategy and policy advocacy across Asia-Pacific, overseeing analysis, engagement priorities and regulatory dialogue while advancing proprietary frameworks. She joined Impax in 2022 from the Asian Corporate Governance Association (ACGA), where she served as Research and Project Director, authored flagship governance reports and chaired the China Working Group, a role she continues alongside her consultancy to ACGA. A recognised thought leader, Nana speaks at global forums, contributes to policy discussions and engages widely with regulators, investors and academia. She co-authored Unlocking Corporate Success by the Power of Diversity (2024) and wrote Navigating Sustainability in Asia. In 2025, she received the ICGN Excellence in Stewardship Award, the first Asian recipient. She holds an MBA (Honors) from Chicago, a Master of Finance from HKU and is a CFA charterholder.
